

The F C C needs to know a few things. One, the caliber of your selections as to what should/should not be aired on television, and radio has really lost credibility. The confidence in the job you are doing has become tacky, and it has evidence of a new mindset amongst the power players (i.e. upper management). The FCC's choices to air programs with less integrity and moral fiber than a stick is awful. Allowing the cable companies to monopolize air waves, creating an elite-system of customers goes against equality of life. Do not allow digital cable to out-rule or over-rule cable television services. With regard to programs aired, "if it 'aint family-friendly/oriented, don't air it. The FCC is responsible for allowing too many programs which have DESTROYED OUR YOUTH, The Family unit as a whole, and has degraded singlehood to being a disease. With regard to airing Christian programs, specifically K-LOVE, it should not be changed where it is not servicing my community. I dread the idea of your employing LPFM, because we already have shaken confidence in the FCC, the trust in your changes is not very high. And further, I like K-LOVE, and KGBI broadcast just the way they are! These two stations could teach the FCC multiple things. Nevertheless, Let God Be Magnified! And HE will. Thank you. - Michelle D H McGhee
